Board takes the initiative with METRA

by KATIE KUEHNER
Lakeland Newspapers

If the proposed METRA commuter line does come to Antioch within several years, residents can thank the village board for taking the initiative by selling METRA on Antioch.

"The reason we're going to Antioch (on the proposed line) is because Antioch came to us," said Harry Thomas, one of METRA's community affairs specialists.

According to Lyle Gomm, community development planner for METRA, Antioch officials approached the company last spring, stating that the village had purchased property that could accommodate a rail depot. They also said they would work with METRA in helping it to locate property near the Wisconsin border that would be used to store rail equipment.

"Because of this (Antioch's initiative), the powers that be in METRA decided it was a good idea to come to Antioch," Gomm said.

Previously, METRA had only planned a commuter line to end at Mundelein, believing that the majority of passengers would come from points south. But Gomm said that Antioch's urging convinced METRA officials that to extend the line would be a good idea. The proposed line would run on existing Wisconsin Central Ltd. (Soo Line) tracks.

Thomas said that before METRA will commit to running the line, all of the communities scheduled to receive the line (from Des Plaines to Antioch) will have to commit to a commuter station as well as an adjacent parking lot.

So far, all of the communities from Prospect Heights to Mundelein have expressed their support for the proposed line and are thinking seriously about the financial commitment of the station and parking lot.

"This is a big step for METRA (for the implementation of the proposed line)," Gomm said. "This is certainly one of our higher interest projects and it's beneficial to know of the solid interest of the communities."

According to Antioch Trustee Ed Koziorowski, the property on Depot St. (that actually held the original depot) was bought from Wisconsin Central Ltd. for a decent price over a year ago. He said village officials made it clear to METRA that the village would be willing to construct a depot if a commuter line would run to Antioch.

"We will also assist METRA in obtaining property to store its equipment," Koziorowski said. METRA is tentatively looking at property near the Wisconsin border.

Mayor Robert Wilton said that the village board would like to see the commuter line and depot established close to Antioch's 100th-year anniversary. "When we celebrate how far we've come, we can also (utilize the grand opening to) look forward to what's in store."

Nancy Janssen: a new kind of matchmaker

by PAT CHRISTENSEN
Lakeland Newspapers

Nancy Janssen is a professional matchmaker.

Janssen is the new coordinator for Help Our Seniors to Thrive (H.O.S.T.), a new program being put on by S.E.R. Fair Housing of Lake County. According to Janssen, the program is aimed at matching up individuals with a need to share housing.

"The requirement of the program is that one of the members of the match must be age 55 or older and the other can be of any age," said Janssen. "Participants must be Lake County residents or people wanting to move into Lake County. Both participants need to be physically and mentally able to care for themselves. They may need some assistance, but they need to be able to provide the majority of their own care."

"Each participant goes through an in-depth interview and I ask for four references," explained Janssen. "I try to match people's habits and expectations, and also make an evaluation of their needs."

"I will arrange an introduction and, if everything works out, I put together a home-sharing agreement which spells everything out. This contract can be renegotiated at any time."

Communicating with seniors is something that Janssen said she is good at. "I enjoy working with senior citizens, it's a population I'm very empathic with. I'm not sure where that comes from."

"I had a grandfather I really admired, and that might be part of it," she explained. "He was a pretty cantankerous person in his late 80's when I knew him, and he lived to be 95. I just admired him."

"I remember he used to smoke Pall Mall cigarettes and he used to put them out between his thumb and finger. I thought that was incredible. He was a tailor and his hands were very calloused."

"When he was 90, the surgeon general came out with the fact that smoking was hazardous to your health, and he just quit smoking. I don't know if I realized at that age what terrific personal control and self-respect that took. I think I see a bit of him in all the seniors I deal with."

"Many of the seniors I see are cantankerous too. I enjoy that, I really do. I like people who have the courage to be who they are. The older we get, I think, the more we allow ourselves to be who we really are, and to show that to other people."

Her admiration for the seniors in her program doesn't get in the way of making matches for them, but she did admit that some of them were a challenge.

"There is an elderly gentlemen," she explained, "87 years old, who is very, very sharp. He lives in a beautiful home, in an affluent suburb and is extremely happy there. He just needs some light housekeeping and similar kinds of supports to stay in his familiar setting, and live his life out the way he would like to. This is the kind of person that I think this program can really help."

What makes this particular case such a challenge? "I think it's because he is very sure of what he wants. The match will probably need to be with a younger person who is able to do light housekeeping tasks, and I'm not sure a younger person would understand his severity, his sureness. It's going to take a mature younger person, probably someone between 40 or 50 years old," Janssen said, breaking into a laugh.

"This man was an architect," she elaborated, "and, I think, had a group of friends who were the movers and the shakers in Chicago and the suburbs. As his world became smaller because of the aging process, he managed to deal with it in healthy ways."

"He developed diabetes and then had a leg amputated, so getting around became more of a problem, and his world shrunk. I think he has an exceptional mind, and dealt with that part of the aging process by developing interests he can do in his own home."

"He plays the stock market like a bandit."

"I think that as your life changes, you need to be flexible and appreciate the new aspects of your life. But that's tough to do," Janssen admitted. "I think we tend to hang on to all the old stuff and don't continue to develop."

"This man has been able to accomplish that development, and because of this, he's very sure of himself, and very opinionated," she concluded. "But he has a dry sense of humor, and I like him very much."

Anyone interested in contacting Janssen about making a match, or in learning more about the H.O.S.T. program, can reach Janssen at (708) 336-1007.

Artistic Glastnost comes to Lake County Nov. 27

Glastnost has come to Lake County now that Starlight of Moscow has gotten the OK for a cooperative venture with the international cultural center, Pegasus, headquartered in Barrington, to not only exhibit, but also to sell Soviet works of art.

This showing of artworks from Russia will take place at Lake Forest Academy from Nov. 27 through Nov. 30.

According to Lara Kobrinalev of Pegasus, "the works of the 10 best living contemporary Soviet artists, recently shown not only throughout Russia, but all over Europe, will be on display and for sale in Lake Forest."

The list of Russian artists includes V. Sandryev, K. Melnikov, I. Khodyrev, H. Khasanzhanov, N. Postnikov, A. Politov, P. Yarikovets, O. Krestovskaya, M. Abdusamatova, A. Abramov, I. Rodganets,

A. Basanez and A. Begov.

Cummings, who is Russian-born, started Pegasus to bring Soviet artists, musicians and writers to America and find an audience for their works. Pegasus also works on behalf of any artists that are still in Russian prisons because of the controversial themes of their work.

Cummings and her American-born husband, Victor, have provided temporary shelter in their home in Barrington for many immigrated artists until they can be properly situated in this country.

Pegasus is named after the winged horse in Greek mythology which stands for poetry. It is a non-profit organization that often finds itself in the hole after using monies collected through its many fundraisers towards the betterment of this cultural exchange with Russia.

The Wisdom Of Growing Older Means Knowing When To Ask For Help.

At Victory Memorial Hospital's Mental Health Unit, we believe the wisdom that comes with growing older means knowing when to reach out for help. We know that at every stage of life, there are new challenges. Sometimes these challenges can be overwhelming. That's when it's time to call the caring professionals in our specialized unit for seniors.

Our job is to teach patients how to reach beyond their emotional pain and find a new meaning in life. Patients who were once wishing away their remaining years now hold on to each precious moment, feeling as though life is just beginning.

These changes don't happen as a result of magic or medication. They result from our staff working one-on-one with patients to help them see the world in a new light — adding color to what was once a gray world. In addition to individual therapy, our patients also gain tremendous value through participation in group therapy.

If you or someone you love is struggling with a difficult emotional problem, now is the time to reach out for help. Call the Victory Memorial Hospital Mental Health Unit at (708) 360-4082.

Santa's on the way to Antioch Nov. 23

Santa's put Antioch on his list for Friday, Nov. 23, where he'll be the celebrated guest in the Christmas parade. Starting at 6 p.m. in front of the Antioch Community High School, the parade continues down Main St. to Orchard St., concluding at the municipal parking lot on Toft.

"What's really special is that Santa comes to town and stays for 31 days!" Roger Sorensen, co-chair of the 1990 Christmas Program sponsored by Antioch's Chamber of Commerce and Industry, said Santa's Enchanted Castle, located at the intersection of Orchard and Toft Sts., will be open Nov. 23 through Dec. 23, weekdays from 5 to 8 p.m., and weekends from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Thousands of children and parents from northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin are expected to enjoy the castle. To keep them busy while they wait for Dec. 25, children will receive a free 24-page Christmas coloring book, courtesy of Antioch's business community, and a pack of crayons donated by State Bank of Antioch and other local businesses.

And for really big smiles, children will talk with Santa himself and Mrs. Claus! As each child whispers secrets to Santa, a photographer will capture the conversation. A color print mounted on a Christmas card is available for $4.

Later, when children think of other important messages for Santa, they may mail them at the box standing ready just outside the Enchanted Castle. Antioch's Parks and Recreation guarantees delivery to Santa.

"There's no place quite so nice at Christmas as the castle, with its red and green spires. When children see the castle and talk with Santa, their enchantment is obvious. The parents, of course, see more, the more than 80 volunteers from Antioch's Woman's Club and Antioch's Chamber of Commerce and Industry who have set up and staffed the castle. We thank these 'Santa's helpers' for making Christmas merry in Antioch," said Sandi Nolan, Chamber of Commerce co-chair.

Roman, Student of the Month

Kristina Roman has been selected as the Antioch Community High School "Student of the Month". Roman's special commendation was made from the Lake County Area Vocational Center and nomination for the National Vocational Honor Society. Roman's vocational coop (Peppermint Stick pre-school) employee evaluation was outstanding as was her "A" grade average. Pictured congratulating Roman (from left) is Supt. Gary Allen and Renne Drozek from the Bank of Waukegan, Antioch. The bank contributed $100 to the Parent/Teacher Scholarship Fund in the name of Roman.

Village may create new liquor license

by KATIE KUEHNER

The Antioch Board of Trustees has decided to either expand the current restaurant beer and wine license or to create a separate category under the Class A liquor licenses to accommodate businesses such as DiMarco's Restaurant on Main St.

Frank DiMarco, owner of the restaurant located in the Tax Increment Funding (TIF) district of Antioch (that area set aside for increased redevelopment), came before the board in a special hearing to request some type of liquor license so that his business could survive.

"Right now, customers are either complaining or leaving before they order because we don't serve cocktails," DiMarco said.

"Also, if I ever want to expand, I need a separate waiting place for people. No one wants to stand outside in the winter, and that's just what they'll have to do if we aren't able to expand."

"This street needs this (type of service)," he continued. "PM&L is excellent and drawing in a lot of people and other businesses are bringing in potential customers."

DiMarco would like a separate bar or lounge comparable to restaurants in Libertyville. In order to construct that, he would need a different license than his current beer and wine license. "A bank will look at what type of liquor license I have before it loans money (for an expansion)."

"This is my bottom line we're talking about," he said. "I'm at your (the board's) mercy."

Board members discussed either structuring the current license or creating a new category of Class A liquor license, so that taverns cannot come into the TIF district.

"I don't want a tavern there, either," DiMarco said. "That's not what I'm looking for."

"We'll try to accommodate most of your needs, while only making you slightly unhappy," Trustee Don Amundsen said.

The board would like to structure an ordinance so that if DiMarco ever sells the restaurant, the liquor rights would automatically revert back to the village. Additionally, the board would like to restrict the selling of liquor in a lounge in the restaurant to the hours that DiMarco's kitchen is open.

The members will decide if the village should keep the restaurant beer and wine ordinance as it is for anyone else who is interested in that type of license and create a new category of the Class A liquor license for restaurants. "We already have a separate category for motels and hotels," Mayor Robert Wilton said.

The board members said they should have an ordinance pertaining to DiMarco's case by Jan. 1, after village attorney Ken Clark returns from vacation.

Tamburrino named

The Antioch Board of Trustees appointed Jennifer Tamburrino to the board of directors of the Antioch Parks and Recreation Dept. Tamburrino will replace Phyllis Boerman who moved to Connecticut.

Aglow Fellowship

The next general meeting of the Antioch's Aglow will be held on Thursday, Dec. 6 at 6 p.m. at Hoff's Columbia Bay Restaurant, 38744 Hwy. 59, Lake Villa. Call (708)395-0060 for reservations.

Public says not enough parking at post office

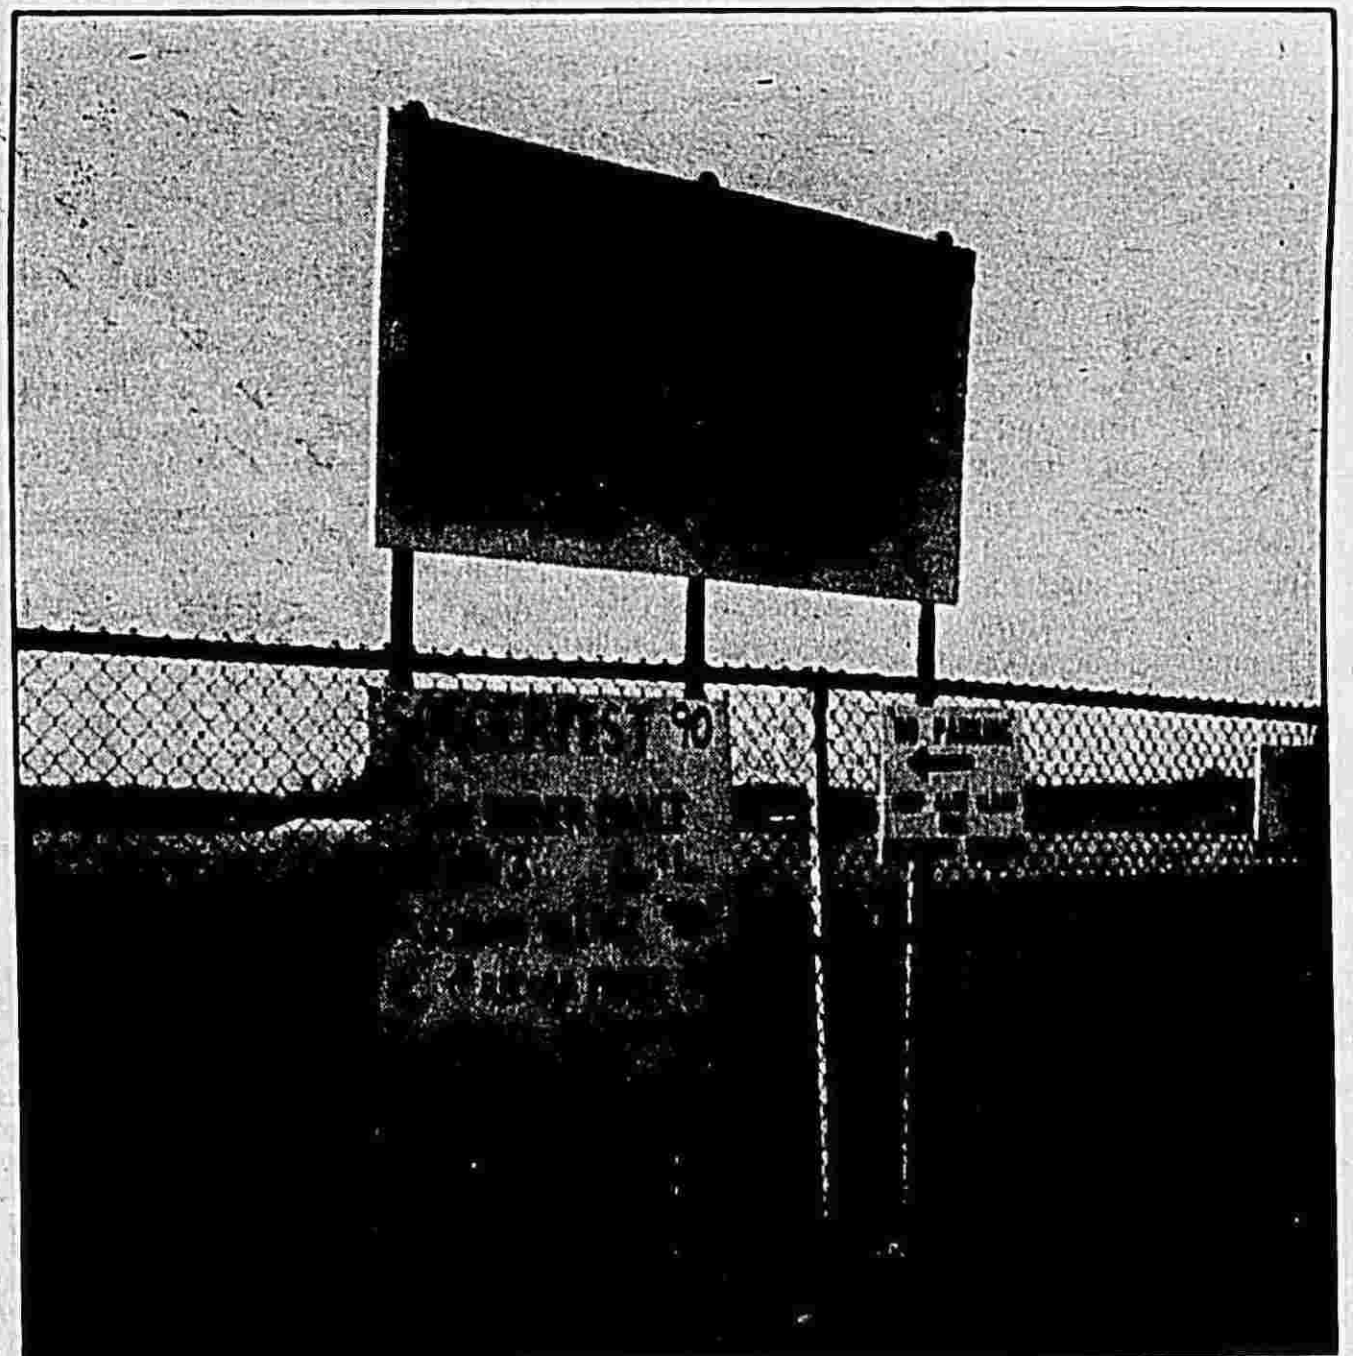

Jerry Parish, postmaster of the U.S. post office in the downtown area, said that he has received complaints about the lack of parking in front of the facility. Antioch Trustee Marilyn Shineflug learned of the problem and brought the matter to the village board's attention. The board then decided to draft a letter to the postal dept. in River Grove (that oversees the office in Antioch) regarding the lack of parking spaces.

"There are only three spaces in front of the post office," Shineflug said. "One of those spaces is designated to better serve the handicapped, so the rest of the public only has two spaces."

In its letter, the board asks the postal service to investigate either changing the existing facility to create additional parking in the back of the building or look at options for new facilities with more parking spaces.

Additionally, Trustee Mabel Lou Weber said to include a request to reinstate a Sunday pick-up.

Polley Field — one of the choices

The Antioch Dist. 117 Board of Education may soon announce its choice for a site a new high school building, to replace the existing facilities on Main St. The board is planning on placing a referendum on the April ballot to ask voters whether a new school should be built. One of the choices is Polley Field, property that the district already owns. The choice of Polley Field would please a lot of people in Lindenhurst and Lake Villa who would like to see the facilities move closer to where the center of Dist. 117's population actually exists. — photo by Katie Kuehner.

Best Entertainment

Okay, did you partake in or did you miss St. Peter's annual production of "Footlights?" If you went to one or more of the performances, I know you had a fantastic, fun evening. If you did not do "Footlights" this year, make yourself a promise to visit this annual event next year. I guarantee you, you won't be sorry. My daughter, Donna Schmehl, and I treated ourselves to the fun evening on Nov. 10. I tried to get Sally Hiller and Dee Samson to go along, but they had other plans. Maybe next year ladies. Donna also worked in the Orient Express room on Friday evening along with Bob and Darlene Olenick and Ray and Marie Brausam.

All of the many entertainment rooms were excellent, the food was delicious, and the music was catching. The biggest lines seemed to constantly be forming for the Lip Sync performances. They held six shows on Saturday evening and the room was packed with standing room only each time. Some of the Lip Sync acts were "The Jackson Five," "Bette Midler," "The Uppers," "The New Beats," "Ghost Chickens in the Sky," and returning by popular demand "The Village People." As I waited in lines and visited the many rooms of entertainment, I literally saw dozens of people I knew. As I do for parades, here is my recognition list. I am sure I am leaving out a few people, as my memory isn't what it used to be and my notes weren't too clear.

I spotted Elsie and Jay Domkowski in the hallway, plus Harry Lengvenis, Ellen Ipsen, Billie Mastalerz, Dave and Linda Jones, Cyndi Vandrush, Helen and Carolyn Olechny, Debbie Campbell (looking as pretty as ever), John and Linda Webel, Claudette Skvarce (who tried to convince Donna and I to do a room next year), Jamie and Tom Seputis, and John and Joanne Fleshman. Dancing up a storm to the "Grease" band were Cindy Schaller, Ann Rowe, Adeline Trout, Carolyn and Bruce Adams, Walt and Janet Martens, Marsha Langosh, Debbie Foerster, and Marlene Olsen. I couldn't believe my eye when I met up with Marge and Jim Holem and Linda Struve, with whom we use to camp when all of our kids were younger. Naturally we exchanged hugs in the hallway and they looked fantastic.

I also saw Cathy and Tom Shaughnessy, Sandy Miller, Bob Langosh, Michelle (Mitch) and Pat Bailey, Dennis and Kenny Bergl, Vicki and Ted Axton, Florence Babusek, Venus Salak, and Alice Gantnar. By the size of the crowd there Saturday night, it looks like congratulations are in order, once again, to all of the people who make "Footlights" so special, the chairpeople and their committees, the nightly workers, the room sponsors, the nightly entertainers, the ad book patron, and the customers, you all did it again!

A special thank you is in order for the "Footlights" organizing committee as under their leadership and direction the four evenings were successful. Carol Geske, LaVergne Nausedsa, Carol Delany, Phil Delany, Dean Pedersen, Linda Pedersen, and Wayne Sobczak. See you next year!

Tongue Tied Lizard

Camp Crayon had a visitor on Nov. 8. Daurel (I mean Laurel) Dahl of the village offices came to observe to introduce her to the students and in order to save time I combined her first and last name, thus renaming her Daurel. So, when you see "Laurel" about town tell her Miss Liz said to say "Hi Daurel!" Yep, you are right, I chew on my own foot more often than not.

Keep On Dreaming

Recently Oprah Winfrey hosted a show about people over 40 fulfilling life-long dreams. As I sat and watched this particular program, I thought of how many dreams I have personally fulfilled thus far in my life time, and once again I realized how lucky I have been and still am.

One of my first and earliest dreams was to become a wife and mother and my husband and four great kids are living proof that this dream definitely came true.

As a child growing up I also wanted my household to include many different types of pets. If you have been reading "Hometown Goodies" on a regular basis, then you are also aware that this dream came to pass. Often times as the menagerie of pets came and went in our household, I would have longings for a pet raccoon and "Luigi" is the realization of that particular dream.

Still yet to be accomplished in the Lizard's dream book are the ability to paint (and I don't mean walls) and to bust out into song in a crowded room. In a small way I am in the process of making these two dreams come true at the same time. As I sit with the littler preschoolers at Camp Crayon creating my crayon pictures for them, I think it may not be painting, but it is better than nothing and they sure get a lot of joy out of receiving a lopsided crayon picture created especially for them by Miss Liz. To revise and modify a dream a bit is fine with me. After all, I do have my limitations. As far as breaking out in song, you should hear my rendition of "Where is Thumbkin" or "BINGO!"

Actually I would like to sing the whole score from a famous musical or an opera. Considering the sounds that come from my vocal chords, I think I better be happy with singing in the circle at Camp Crayon. I have also noticed that I add to my dreams as the years tick by. My dream of being a granny continues. Finally one of my priority dreams definitely very happy to finally have this male sibling in the family. So now it is five women against three men in the Marten's family. This appears to even up the odds a bit!

was great seeing those in charge being so conscientious about eliminating the possibility of underage drinking.

Antioch AARP

I'd like to extend two happy belated birthdays to two members of the Antioch Chapter of AARP. Happy belated birthday to Bernice Cardis who celebrated her special day on Nov. 2 and to Marie Broom who celebrated her "90th" birthday, also on Nov. 2.

In honor of Marie's "90th" birthday, her fellow AARP members helped her celebrate this milestone in her life with a surprise party held at the Antioch Senior Center. Also, I understand the AARP Halloween costume party was a huge success. The winners of the costume judging were, Irene Lingo dressed up as a "Southern Belle" and claimed the prize for the most beautiful costume; Dolly Spierling's "Devil" costume won for the funniest; and Clara Haling's version of "Annie Oakley" awarded her the prize for the most original costume. I chit chatted with Clara Haling about the recent senior center outing to the Kenosha Dairyland Greyhound Track and she was bubbling with excitement over the fun she had that day.

Hometown Goodies

would be a long, happy, and healthy life for all of my family members and friends. In conjunction with that, I hope the Lizard lives to be 100 years old in order to accomplish each new dream as it comes along.

Class Reunion

The 1961 graduating class of ACHS is in the process of planning its 30 year reunion. A tentative date has been set for July 20, 1991 and it will be held right here in our "Hometown" at Hogan's Restaurant at the Antioch Golf Course. My caller reminded me that most of the graduates of the class of 1961 would remember it as "George Diamonds." If you are a member of the class 1961 and would like to participate in the reunion, you may call the high school and they will pass the information on to the people in charge. You can also contact Mary Lou Ford at (708)395-5922 or Mary Cunningham at (708)395-3409.

Time Passes Quickly

If you are a mother of a little child or baby and it seems they will never grow up, take it from me they do, and will, and all too quickly. I recently had the opportunity to see Walt and Janette Martens' little baby and I could not believe how big he has gotten. Last time I saw him he was a new born infant and now he is a six-month old football player. He has four sisters and one older brother, Walter. Big brother, Walter, is

Anniversary

Golden Anniversary

Edward and Pauline (Heard) Bradac of Grayslake were married on Oct. 11, 1940. They celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Nov. 4 by renewing their wedding vows at Wildwood Presbyterian Church. The Bradac grandchildren assisted in the service.

The service was followed by a coffee hour in their honor. Family and friends gathered for an afternoon reception in Lindenhurst after the service.

The Bradacs are the parents of Joan (Melvin) Bodenlos of Lindenhurst, Lynn (Richard) McDowell of Jackson, Wyo., and Edward Bradac Jr. of Walnut Creek, Calif.

They have four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

AARP donates to needy

Over 100 members, including those from southern Wisconsin, attended the meeting of Antioch Area Chapter, AARP, on Canned Good Day Nov. 13. Boxes of food, brought by generous members for the need families of the Antioch area, filled almost an entire room. They will be distributed by the township office so all residents of Antioch will have a happy Thanksgiving. Vickie Bock, who chaired the committee for this project, is to be congratulated on its success.

The meeting was chaired by President Ruth Rynders, who introduced Edith Westberg, of the Lake Villa AARP Chapter. Westberg told members of a successful program involving grandparents at the Hooper School in Lake Villa. The grandparents volunteer their time at grade schools to read with children and help them with arithmetic problems, grammar, etc. This program has proven helpful for those children who may be a little slow in learning. The extra attention given them has, in many cases, brought their learning on a par with others their age, and the individual satisfaction gained by the volunteers makes it all worthwhile. Any grandparents willing to give a few hours now and then of their time for this most worthwhile cause may call Mr. Tabor, Emmons School, Antioch, for further information.

Glen Peterson announced all tickets for the dinner-show on Dec. 28 have been sold. He is planning a trip to the Fireside Theatre in Ft. Atkinson, Wis. early in 1991. More information on this show later.

Bob Ullrich, legislative chairman, told members of a tv program (Channel 11) covering the National Health Insurance Program in Canada. It will be aired on Dec. 17 at 9 p.m. Members are encouraged to watch it.

Marge LaParr, program chairman, introduced Sandy Sorensen, from Dr. Fried's office in Gurnee. Sorensen advised members to have their eyes examined regularly for an early diagnosis of serious eye problems, such as glaucoma, cataracts and patients are able to see better and perform regular tasks in just a few days. Slides were shown explaining the operation and quick recovery of patient.

The next meeting, on Nov. 27, will be a social meeting. No business will be conducted except for important announcement. Brown's Chicken will be served. For Christmas, Antioch Chapter will deliver baskets of fruit to each family who is enrolled in the Meals on Wheels program.

Tickets for the Christmas party at Country Squire will be sold at the meeting Nov. 27. Tickets for members will be $8.25. Guests will pay $11.25.

Help your neighbor through the Exchange Club of Antioch

Be a smart shopper and get $40 worth of food such as meats, poultry, fruits, vegetable, cereals, rice, pasta for only $15.

This is how it works: The Exchange Club of Antioch buys each package of food worth at least $35 to $40 for $15, and sells it to you for $15. All that is asked is that participants give three hours of community service to a school, church, or any non-profit agency.

To sign up for this program, bring $15 to one of the following locations by 1 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 28 for the Dec. 15 pickup:

In Antioch, the Antioch Chamber of Commerce, 822 Main St.; First National Bank of Antioch, 485 Lake St.; Antioch Village Hall, 874 Main St.; or State Bank of Antioch, 440 Lake St.

State Bank of Antioch, 2031 E. Grand Ave., Lindenhurst. Lake Villa Twp. office, 22 Fairfield Rd., Lake Villa.

Pick up will be on Dec. 15 at the Antioch Veteran's of Foreign Wars Hall, 75 North Ave., Antioch.

For more information call the Antioch Chamber of Commerce at (708)395-2233 or Exchange Club President Claudette Skvarce at (708)395-6744.

Drug and alcohol education program set

The Anti-Alcohol and Drug Task Force of Antioch will host an adult information and education program Wednesday, Nov. 28 at 7 p.m. in the Antioch Senior Center.

Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson will present a program about drug and alcohol abuse. Additionally, two local peace officers, Ron Kay from the Antioch Police Dept. and Andy Jones from the Lindenhurst Police Dept. will discuss the local problems relating to the issue.

Hauser gets scholarship

Michael A. Hauser of Antioch, has received an athletic scholarship for soccer for the 1990-91 academic year as part of the Spectrum Scholarship Program at Aquinas College in Michigan. A graduate of Antioch Community High School, Hauser is a freshman at Aquinas.

They will also display drug paraphernalia seized in the area.

The task force said refreshments will follow. For more information, call Dick Jorgenson at (708) 395-1146.

Players make All-State lists

Lisa Filip of Antioch High School made the Illinois High Schools Field Hockey Association (IHSFHA) first all-state team. Antioch High School students Jessica Marshall and Susan Ozga made the second all-state team.

The IHSFHA also recognizes those athletes who have a B average or above by designating an All-Academic Team. From Antioch are Andrea Behling, Crystal Cox, Jenny Hagen, Danielle Miller, Susan Ozga and Ann Winner.

The IHSFHA commended their efforts and dedication and presented them with a certificate for their accomplishments.

OTB gains foothold

Off Track Betting (OTB) in Illinois is here to stay despite protests over the evils of gambling and cries of anguish from operators bemoaning government continuing to skim off the betting handle for new revenue.

Owners of the Waukegan OTB, the same people running Arlington International Race Track, predictably howled with anger when the County Board voted to impose a $1 admission fee above the one per cent each take going to the county and the City of Waukegan. The one per cent came to $700,000 last year and the $1 admission for county coffers was estimated to bring in $250,000 more.

Additional protests were heard from another sector, the Village of Fox Lake where the Arlington management is scouting for a second OTB site to head off Illinois bettors being lured to two Wisconsin dogtracks. Mayor Frank Meier scored the County Board for messing up what he feels will be a welcome income source for Fox Lake.

Whether the considerable complaining was heeded or not, the County Board now is likely to rescind the $1 OTB admission on recommendations of the finance and administrative committee. A final decision will be made by a full vote of the board Dec. 11.

At this point, Fox Lake officials could care less. Mayor Meier already is engineering a deal with Arlington International to locate the Fox Lake OTB on a site in the village located in McHenry County where County Board members aren't so greedy.

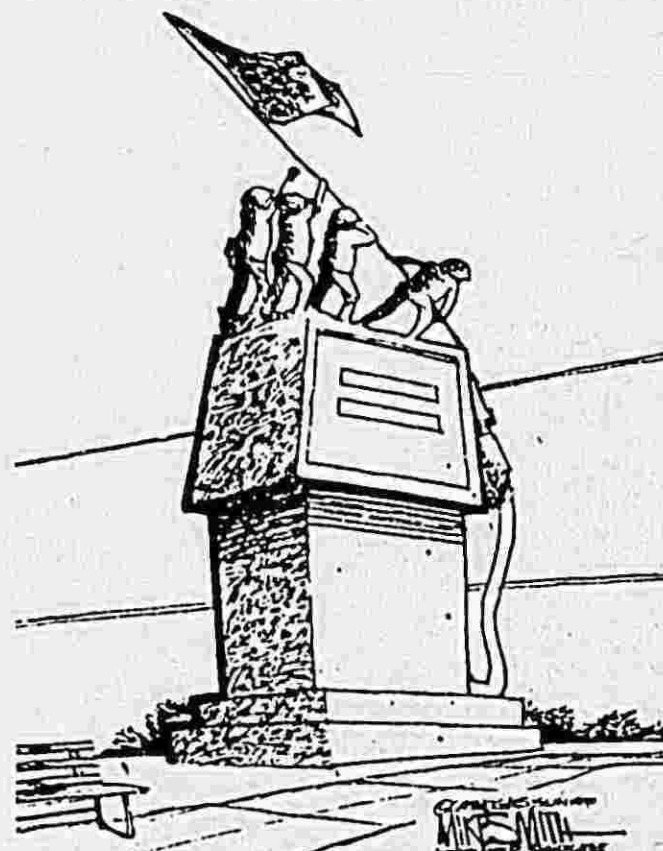

So it looks as if Lake County will get a second OTB facility, one way or another. As we were saying, off track betting is here to stay, probably because there are plenty of folks who like to bet, but more importantly, because there are officials who like the revenue betting generates.

A muffed chance

At one point early on in the campaign, Congresswoman Lynn Martin looked like she might have a chance to unseat the redoubtable U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, albeit a long shot. That was before the highly paid campaign advisers got into the act.

Martin had qualifications, more than enough credentials to mount a stiff campaign against the downstate drone, the most obvious being the difference in sex. Certainly, a woman's voice is needed badly in the Senate. Martin is energetic and forceful. She has a creditable record in Congress. Significantly, if elected Martin was pledged to be a full-time senator. Martin is in tune with the times while Paul Simon still is espousing New Deal philosophy, frequently to the chagrin of fellow Democrats. Even as lucky and honest as he is, Simon is not invulnerable. There are chinks in his armor. While not exactly decrepit, Paul Simon has been around the Illinois political scene for more than 30 years. That's a long time.

Instead of offering Illinois voters a new voice, new vitality and new commitment to serving the needs of Illinois, Martin's advisers had her take a rocky partisan road when voters are getting restless with a Republican administration. There sure weren't any coattails for Lynn Martin. The Martin team spent a lot of energy trying to hang a sleaze tag on Simon in connection with the S&L mess. It backfired terribly. Martin suddenly was coming across as a shrew, a hip-shooter in an arena where a conservative, steady hand not distracted by Potomac fever was fervently needed. Simon also got lucky. No one could have predicted that an aged liberal Supreme Court justice would retire and war flames would erupt in the Middle East, giving the bow-tied politician an opportunity to appear senatorial just when he needed it most.

Letters To The Editor

Preservations champion

Editor:
Because outstanding public service deserves recognition, the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. should name its next acquisition after State Rep. John S. Matijevich.

For two consecutive years Matijevich has played the key role in stopping special interest group attempts to severely restrict the district's ability to purchase additional land. Without his efforts it is doubtful the district could protect additional forests and open space from becoming subdivisions, shopping malls and parking lots.

Matijevich is a Democrat and the majority of the Forest Preserve Dist. Commissioners are Republicans, but this is not a partisan political issue. Neither party has a monopoly on environmental protection, but it was Matijevich who championed the cause of those determined to provide adequate recreational areas and open space for both the present and future generations, and that deserves bipartisan recognition.

Beautiful sight

Editor:
Look out of an east window to see a beautiful sight. At about 11 p.m. you will see bright creamy white Jupiter at the left-northeast and bright blue white Sirius at the right-southeast. Dimmer Procyon is in the middle. Step outside and you will see Mars overhead and the constellation Orion to its right. These stars will rise four minutes earlier each night.

Viewpoint

Fight war with words, not bullets

by BILL SCHROEDER

A chilling war fever has spread across America, a discouraging thought as the holiday season approaches even though the thought of armed combat at anytime is depressing.

Must our armed forces face death and disfigurement in Saudia Arabia? More and more people are saying yes, from the man in the White House to the guy at the end of the bar.

Their confidence is born out of the apparent overwhelming U.S. military superiority, our ingrained hatred of dictators and oppression--and impatience. "Let's do what we have to do, get it over and come home" is a typical response to the troubled Middle East both among the military and civilians.

Conventional military wisdom is that the U.S. should opt for intricate troop maneuvers to drive Iraq out of Kuwait rather than get involved in a frontal assault across miles of enemy-held territory, thus avoiding a bloody war of attrition. Moving an army slowly across the desert is begging for a chemical weapons attack, some of the experts warn.

You won't hear any sabre rattling, though, on the part of parents and relatives of young men and women at the front, part of the force approaching 500,000. They know the dangers our forces face.

With that kind of might and the affects of an embargo being felt by the enemy more every day, time is on our side to let diplomatic endeavors play out. Patience is paramount. With few exceptions, our allies aren't rushing in "to get the job done," whatever that might mean. Calm the itchy trigger fingers.

We'll trade one Christmas in the desert for a flock of casualties. At this point the U.S. can fight the war with words. America will not have to be ashamed to walk away from Saudia Arabia without a shot being fired.

Nominees must currently be teaching full-time in any pre-kindergarten through fifth grade public or non-public elementary school in Lake, Cook or DuPage counties. Each year the Foundation for Excellence in Teaching awards Golden Apples to 10 outstanding teachers. Winners receive $2,500; a paid fall-term sabbatical to study tuition-free at Northwestern University; an Apple Macintosh computer, and professional development seminars.

Nominations are being accepted now through Dec. 7. Forms are available at 312-407-0006 or by writing the Foundation, 8 S. Michigan Ave., Suite 2310, Ill. 60603-3318.

HELP SOUGHT---If you don't ask, you can't get help. That's the motto of a group of third graders at Clara Peterson School in downstate Paxton who are appealing to readers of this newspaper to send them postcards or letters telling them about about our town. They're studying the United States. Sounds like a big order, but that doesn't phase them or their teacher, D. Shields. Write them at 580 E. Franklin, Paxton, Ill. 60957.

Appreciative candidate

Editor:
I would like to thank the voters of Dist. 6 Lake County who supported me in my bid for County Board in the Nov. 6 election. I was warmly received throughout the district and I had looked forward to serving my community as a County Board member. I will continue to serve on the Regional Plan Commission and Land Conservation Committee of Lake County, as well as continue other endeavors on important issues on a grassroots level.

Commute is made worse

Editor:
It is very obvious to the Metra North commuters, that whom ever the individuals were that established the new schedule, do not commute beyond Deerfield!

Metra personnel must do planning in a vacuum. It doesn't take a rocket scientist to look at the daily schedule from Union Station, and determine it's designed to cater to the politically connected, more affluent commuters between Glenview and Deerfield, and ignores the needs of us who travel further north. Did anyone at Metra bother to survey the riders or verify the number of monthly tickets purchased by the people who commute from Libertyville and points north?

What happened to the so called "express" trains beyond Deerfield? It makes absolutely no sense to have the 4:52 and the 5:15 trains end in Deerfield, and then have the only other train (the 5:10) near that time frame stop at the same stations, plus, continue on to Fox Lake. It is now so unbelievably crowded, people are standing in all the cars, causing them to be more rude than normal, and that's bad to begin with.

I wrote a letter to Metra requesting someone research the population explosion taking place in Lake County. The Libertyville to Fox Lake corridor is being developed at an unbelievable rate, and is destined to get worse. I explained what the impact will be. More riders!

I'm hoping that our elected officials in northern Lake County will heed the message from their constituents, that we are extremely upset and concerned. It's time for the mayors and other elected officials to get involved and take action to get this new train schedule revised to better serve the community and ridership beyond Deerfield. It's obvious that Metra isn't concerned about us.

Wish' letters

GRAYSLAKE—Friday, Nov. 30, at 4 p.m. is the deadline for "wish letters" for the HUD "Operation Bootstrap" program to assist very low income families with dependent children for jobs, training or further education, owning a business or purchase of a home. HUD approved 30 certificates to be issued by the Lake County Housing Authority. A local task force will select Bootstrap participants. Catholic Charities is taking park in the selection.

Snow bids

GRAYSLAKE—Special snowplow bids have been approved by the Grayslake Village board for the Center St. - downtown area. The Public Works Dept. will do the remainder of the village, with the exception of the Metra parking lot. The special downtown snowplowing will cost the village $65 an hour. A different contractor has been found to plow the Metra parking lot for $125 per plowing.

Sale postponed

LAKE VILLA — The Nov. 20 proposed sale closing date of Wisconsin Central Ltd. land to the Village of Lake Villa has been postponed. The trustees would like the village attorney and engineer to thoroughly review the railroad company's documents regarding the land's water and soil quality before buying the 2.6 acre. According to Mayor Joyce Frayer, Wisconsin Central was scheduled to complete its clean-up of the parcel by the time the two parties closed the sale. In the summer, a lab analysis of the parcel found petroleum and chloride products in the soil and water.

Removal is wrong

LINDENHURST — According to Jerry Spellman, claims adjuster for the Illinois Dept. of Transportation (IDOT), the department has determined that approximately $9,000 to $10,000 in damages were incurred when ADSIGN contracted Karnatz Tree Removal Service in August to cut down trees along Grand Ave. near the intersection of Douglas St. in order to put up billboards.

Board sells METRA

ANTIOCH — If the proposed METRA commuter line does come to Antioch within several years, residents can thank the village board for taking the initiative by selling METRA on Antioch. According to Lyle Gomm, community development planner for METRA, Antioch officials approached the company last spring, stating that the village had purchased property that could accommodate a rail depot. Gomm said that Antioch's urging convinced METRA officials that to extend the line would be a good idea.

Increase declined

ROUND LAKE BEACH—The AFSCME Council 31 has sent a letter to Round Lake Beach Mayor Carl Schrimpf asking for clarification of a proposed wage increase that the union is said to object to because it does not cover all employees. The union has already voted to decline the increase on these grounds.

Planners can prepare for the METRA line

by KATIE KUEHNER
Lakeland Newspapers

Village or city plan commissions can pave the way for the proposed METRA commuter line running from Des Plaines to Antioch. At least the commissions can prepare their communities to accommodate the line, according to the discussion generated during a joint plan commission meeting which involved twenty-two Lake County communities.

The meeting, held at Libertyville High School, centered around the presentations of planners from METRA, Chicago Area Transportation Study (CATS), plus comments from NORTAN and PACE. The issue discussed was the proposed Wisconsin Central (Soo Line) commuter railroad line.

Essentially, the rail officials said that before METRA will commit to running the line, all of the communities scheduled to receive the line will have to commit to a commuter station as well as an adjacent parking lot.

"All of the communities from Prospect Heights to Mundelein have voiced their support via resolutions, except Mundelein," said Lyle Gomm, community development planner for METRA. "Mundelein has been waiting for the result of its referendum that asked the residents if the village should allocate up to $2.5 million to pay for a railroad station and a parking lot. That referendum just passed two to one."

Harry Thomas, one of METRA's community development specialists added that the proposed line will now reach Antioch, because officials there approached METRA and said they have already purchased property that could accommodate a railroad depot. "The reason we're going to Antioch (versus stopping the line at Mundelein) is that Antioch came to us."

Comments from the audience generated the discussion concerning what community plan commissions could do before the proposed line is a reality.

"We (the commissions) could line up a lot of the land costs and street access costs," a member of the audience said. "We could also hold the land at a fixed price, reserve parking lots areas, talk to Commonwealth Edison and designate biking areas."

"This doesn't have to be an abstract concept for plan commissions," the audience member continued. "This can be part of the master planning process and budget. There are things we can work up to so we don't have to plan for things all in one crunch."

PACE officials were there also to discuss bus transportation that could be used in conjunction with the proposed rail line. Several services briefly mentioned were cross-county bus lines, express buses and subscription buses that companies can utilize for over thirty workers.

Those plan commissioners and community officials who attended the joint meeting agreed that informal get-togethers between the planners of the communities were beneficial and decided to schedule another meeting in January. The agenda is yet to be formed, but organizers of the joint meeting (from the Libertyville plan commission) said that more discussion of the proposed METRA rail line would be in order.

entrepreneur

The original 'Bud Light'

A suburban Lake County entrepreneur has parlayed his ability to serve the role of being a matchmaker into a profitable career as an entertainment consultant. And his name doesn't hurt him, either. It's Bud Light.

"Yes, that's true," says Max Light of Highland Park, who has been a Bud Light long before Anheuser-Busch came up with the name for the beer and whose enjoyment of people and the entertainment industry as a whole has enabled him to pursue a career in which he refers to his efforts as "often more fun than work." Moreover, the income potential is excellent, he says.

Basically, Bud (who is also known as Bud Lawrence) is an entertainment broker who, with his wife Gail, operates a business from his home known as Entertainment Unlimited in which he brings together buyers of all kinds wanting to obtain a certain type of talent, and talented individuals who are looking for work. And while he does not manage these acts, he serves as an advisor and a liaison to bands, comedians, specialty and novelty acts, touring groups and is even involved in the production of special events and shows, something he was always interested in, even in college days.

Bud, who refers to his work as extremely "creative and exciting," allows that having the name Bud Light hasn't hurt him a bit. "My name recognition is excellent and well suited to my outgoing personality," he admits. But, for the most part, he is all business. Buyers, he says, are often too busy, unaware or disinterested in obtaining talent for events, yet they know they need it, want it and will purchase it. Talent is often the same. There are acts, singles and groups that relatively few people have heard of, that are literally dying to be recognized and utilized," he says, "and I try to bring the two sides together."

"I deliver results," he says "and that's the name of the game." Instead of sending prospective buyers out to see talent in a live situation (most often at someone else's private affair) — which he refrains from doing — Bud instead invites these prospects to come into his studio office at home where he previews acts for them through audio and video presentations and promotional materials. Most clients have become so confident in his ability to match their needs that, he says, they merely tell him what it is they want him to do or find — and then let him handle it, sight unseen.

In the course of his work, Light (Lawrence) deals with party planners, booking agents, national managers, country club managers, corporate presidents, convention planners and celebrities. His focus is on providing a service function for both the potential buyer and the talent, bringing them together and getting them to work out the details. "I'm a combination talent scout and consultant," he says, "to those who come to recognize the vital middle of the road function I can serve." And, as much as he enjoys putting together a production, a special event (i.e., a Las Vegas Night or Hawaiian Luau, etc.) he gets similar satisfaction from finding some unusual talent or demonstrating to a company, not-for-profit organization, resort, private club or merely an individual — how they can enhance their upcoming party, recognition dinner, entertainment format, wedding — you name it — by utilizing his know-how. This applied to churches, temples and fraternal groups, as well.

In the course of doing this, he has made some wonderful friends and contacts, and met some of what he describes as the most interesting people in the world. "This is definitely a mind-expanding business," he says.

That thought — that this is something people can get involved in with minimal startup costs and next to no inventory-type expenses — has led Bud to his latest project, a Success Program for other people who might be interested in doing what he does. His Guide Book and a special Success Supplement are now being marketed through direct mail and direct response advertising, and the results to date, even though the project is in its infancy, are "very gratifying." Some people have even inquired about being distributors because they feel this is a unique opportunity in probably the world's largest industry."

Bud and his wife have been involved in this matchmaking-consulting business for over 13 years. Both do other things — his wife is a member of the management team at Jenny Craig's widespread Diet and Weight Reduction program in Chicago, and he is a freelance marketing and public relations consultant — which, not surprisingly, helps him bring in more business for his brokerage.

He developed his success program because "this is clean, honest and respected work that virtually anybody with any degree of ambition can accomplish," as long as they like dealing with people and have an organized mind. It's a great enterprise for a husband-wife team or anyone looking for something new, an addition to their income, a money-making opportunity or something to do during their retirement years. That he uses the name Bud Lawrence as a writer and author of the Success Program is due to his realization that "if I offered it as coming from 'Bud Light,' people either wouldn't take it seriously, or they'd think I was a sequel to Spuds McKenzie. I receive a lot of teasing about my name," he says. Therefore, Bud Lawrence is a welcome escape.

Bud can be reached by writing him at P.O. Box 1789, Highland Park, Ill. or by calling him between 6 and 10 p.m. weekdays at (708)433-8580 or on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., central time. He stresses that he feels what he is offering is a ground-floor opportunity to get involved in the "Home-based business of the 90s," and that one's chances for success are not determined by their educational background or where they happen to live. "In fact, he says "I tell everybody that it would be difficult not to succeed at this, unless one just doesn't try!"

Northern Illinois Medical Center groundbreaking

Recently, the official groundbreaking for the Northern Illinois Medical Center (NIMC) building and renovation program took place. The extensive project, which will approximate $5.5 million in construction costs, includes three distinct elements: installation of a Cardiac Catheterization Suite adjoining the Surgery Department (this space currently occupied by Medical Records); a single-story addition to the southwest side of the hospital, under 5,000 square feet, to house Medical Records after it is relocated; and a two-story 30,000 square foot addition to the south side of the hospital. Reorganization of existing first floor areas impacting on outpatient services, and additional parking space are included in the project.

Senator Jack Schaffer, one of the groundbreaking ceremony guests, pointed out that this is the fourth groundbreaking ceremony he has attended for NIMC in eight years.

NIMC President Paul E. Laudick said, "When this building opened six years ago, there were 1,081 outpatient surgery procedure throughout 1984. In the past year, we had 2,398 outpatient surgery procedures. Backing this up, other outpatient services that may or may not be related to surgery also have increased dramatically."

The interior renovation at NIMC will make outpatient registration and access to services easier and more efficient. The Cardiac Catheterization Suite will mean an introduction of sophisticated heart procedures previously not done at NIMC, which required traveling long distances for patients needing advanced diagnostic or surgical cardiac care.

People visiting NIMC are urged to take notice of the changed locations of certain departments identified by new signage. The Emergency Entrance is still located on the south side of the building, but will have changed routing for ambulances and people needing emergency care.

All other patients and visitors should enter through the main lobby on the north end of the building, including those seeking admitting and outpatient services.

The building program is estimated to take 12 to 14 months.

film review

Director Adrian Lyne, of "Fatal Attraction" and "9 1/2 Weeks" fame, brings another well-done psychological thriller to the screen in "Jacob's Ladder."

Tim Robbins does a fine job as the poor soul who thinks he has lost the ability to distinguish between the real and the imaginary.

He is joined by two other creditable thespians in Elizabeth Pena, who plays his moody girlfriend, and Danny Aiello, who plays his friend, mentor and subsequent savior.

While struggling through his very real dilemma, Robbins stumbles across murder and intrigue to complicate matters.

This one will have you on the edge of your seat more often than not. We're giving it four out of five stars.

Tim Robbins

At Marriott

Mary Ernster and Jeff Award winning Gene Weygandt star in "Me and My Girl" now showing at the Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre through January. Musical won the Lawrence Olivier Award for musicals in London and three Tony Awards.

Weygandt outstanding as Cockney earl

by GLORIA DAVIS
Entertainment Editor

The Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre keeps up with its reputation of collecting some of the most talented casts in and around the Milwaukee-Chicago area with its latest musical offering, "Me and My Girl."

Although the musical, which originally debuted in the late 1930s in London, was an award winner then, and its revival won three Tony Awards when it played on Broadway in 1986, the plot is rather dated and is secondary to the players.

"Girl" is sort of a reverse "My Fair Lady" with the hero Bill Snibson, a lower class Cockney ne'er do well, suddenly finding himself declared the long-lost Earl of Hareford.

A little of George Bernard Shaw's "Pigmalion" creeps in as Sally picks up a few "finishing" touches from Sir John Tremayne, the Earle's uncle, admirably played by Joel Hatch.

Gene Weygandt turns in an award-winning performance as he out-Dudleys Dudley Moore as the Earl.

The real scene stealer is the rousing close to Act 1, the "Lambeth Walk" number which involves the entire cast.

Though the antics sometimes border on "being just a bit much," this is a musical to be enjoyed by the entire family, playing at the Marriott Lincolnshire through January.

MAINSTREAM

'Memories of Mario' to be sung at Carmel High concert Dec. 1, 2

by VIRGINIA KRUEGER
Lakeland Newspapers

Good news for those ardent fans of Mario Lanza's who once tingled to his wonderful renditions of, "Be My Love," "Oh Solo Mia," or "One Alone." Once more, these beautiful songs and others once sung by Mario may be heard recreated, as it were, by Mario's son, Victor Lanza.

Victor, the first born son of Mario, apparently possesses the same rich exciting tenor quality of his father with touch of Spanish accent that seems to capture the hearts of his listeners. Although Victor was born in Philadelphia, the son of Maria Margelli and Alfredo Arnold Cocozza, (later to be known nationally as Mario Lanza) he was taken to Argentina as an infant. Until he was about 16, he spoke only Italian and Spanish.

The year of Mario's death, he had made arrangements for Victor to spend the summer with him in Spain where he was scheduled to film the movie "Granada." As we now know, this was not meant to be. Mario had been in a clinic to lose weight and, apparently over taxed his system once too often.

Victor has studied in Europe with some of Italy's famous singers and teachers such as, Claudio Villa and Enrico Musiani. In the U.S., his teachers were Seth Riggs and Dr. Clint Robinson of the Metropolitan Opera.

Besides looking and sounding much like Mario, Victor has a special "zing" to his style that makes him unique, unto himself. He will be appearing at Carmel High School in Mundelein on Dec. 1 and 2, in a special concert in tribute to his father titled, "Memories of Mario."

Proceeds from this event will be used for a memorial scholarship fund in memory of Carmel Alumni no longer with us. Curtain time for both performances is 8 p.m. Ticket donations are $20 per person or $15 for senior citizens. Checks, made payable to Carmel High School, may be sent to: Memoirs of Mario, Carmel Development Office, One Carmel Pkwy., Mundelein, IL 60060. Be sure to include a stamped self-addressed envelope and state whether you want tickets for Saturday or Sunday evening.

Appearing with Victor in the concert will be that talented soprano, Donna Sadlicka, who has performed with the Chicago Opera Theatre, Light Opera Works, Bowen Park Opera and was the lead soprano with the Opera Factory. Sadlicka was selected personally by Victor, after months of auditioning singers, because she has much of the same quality to her voice as Katherine Grayson who used to accompany Mario. Donna will sing several solos as well as duets with Victor.

Donna Sadlicka and Victor Lanza

Symphony Navy band will march

The Waukegan Symphony Chorus and the Great Lakes Recruit Training Band and Choir will be among the musical groups to perform at Waukegan's Holiday Nite Lite Parade on Saturday, Nov. 24 in downtown Waukegan.

The entire evening of festivities begins at 5:30 p.m. with a tree lighting concert at the Madison Street Mall. The Waukegan Downtown Ministries and the Waukegan Symphony Chorus will host the event.

The parade kicks-off from Genesee and Washington at 6 p.m. Special attractions include three gigantic helium parade balloons, spectacular floats from the Waukegan Historical Society, Outboard Marine Corp., First United Methodist Church and the City of Waukegan, plus horse drawn carriage rides and the coming of Santa Claus.

Of the 45 parade units entered in this year's event, three drill teams and musical units will be coming for the All-American Band and Drum and Bugle Corp. Assn. of Illinois. Most floats will be decorated with lights keeping in the theme of the parade.

Trophies will be given for most original float, best use of lights, best holiday theme and judge's choice.

Tv's Tilmon will narrate symphony's family concert

The North Suburban Symphony orchestra will be joined by television personality Jim Tilmon in presenting its "Family Concert" on Sunday, Dec. 2 at 4 p.m. in Lake Forest's Gorton Community Center. Described as "a symphony, a story, a suite," the program will feature Tilmon's narration and commentary on music chosen for its appeal to young people as well as to adults.

Mozart's "Symphony No. 25" will be followed by music traditionally associated with the winter holidays: excerpts from "Hansel and Gretel," and from the "Nutcracker Suite," and the seasonally appropriate "Skater's Waltz."

Tilmon will be rejoining many of the orchestra members who were instrumentalists in the Lake Forest Symphony several years ago when he was principal clarinet with that orchestra under the direction of Victor Aitay. He has also played clarinet with the Evanston Symphony.

Although the orchestra members know him as an accomplished musician, he is better known to the public as the Channel 5 News weathercaster and the science and aviation specialist for WMAQ-TV/NBC.

Tickets are available at Helanders in Lake Forest, at the Field Violin Workshop, and at the Lake Bluff Pharmacy.

The Florida alternative, a trip to the Bahamas

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Less than 50 miles off the coast of Florida lies the island of Bimini, the closest of over 700 islands that make up the country known as the Bahamas. What does the Bahamas have to offer that you can't get in Florida?

How about crystal clear waters, miles of powder white sand beaches and some of the best scuba diving found anywhere? That should satisfy sun and sand types. For the Vegas crowd, Paradise Island Casino and Cable Beach Casino will be most happy to take your money!

The Bahamas is divided into three areas. New Providence Island is where you'll find the capital city, Nassau. This city has a long and colorful history. It was long home of pirates and buccaneers. You can still visit the watch tower used by Edward Teach (you know him as Blackbeard).

Cable Beach is also on New Providence Island, five miles west of Nassau. Most of the newer hotels are located there.

Connected to New Providence Island by a long, high bridge is Paradise Island, also the home of the newest and most exclusive hotels as well as the Paradise Island Casino.

The other main island is Grand Bahama Island, home of Freeport/Lucaya. Freeport, as well as Nassau, are frequented by many cruise liners. Freeport is a "planned" city of the Bahamas government and has only been around since the '50s. A tip from Jim, skip Freeport. No historic sites, fair beaches. Too "planned."

If you really want to get away from it all, the Family Islands are for you. You'll find no discos, no casinos, few phones and fewer televisions.

Skip Florida this year. Give the Bahamas a try.

Start $100,000 steps to victory

One step at a time, Carmel High School is going to proceed on the pathway toward Carmel 2000, a $3.2 million fund raising campaign to provide for faculty enrichment, student scholarships and a new athletic facility.

Students, faculty members and fund drive leaders gathered to unveil a colorful sign at the entrance to the school that will depict progress in the form of $100,000 stepping stones.

Joseph Sweeney, director of development, announced that preliminary efforts have gotten the campaign off to a good start with $640,000 already earmarked for the drive expected to take a year.

The Rev. William Harry, Carmel president, remarked to early arrivals for the brief unveiling ceremony, "There's no turning back now."

In prepared remarks, Father Harry pointed out that construction of the new athletic center will be the first physical change in the Mundelein school's 28 year history.

Noting that the school's 1,200 students hailing from all over Lake County with several from McHenry and Cook counties, all are recording high scores on scholastic tests. "We're addressing our needs. Carmel 2000 will put us in a good position for the future."

Lauren Drew of Libertyville, chairperson, called Carmel 2000 a milestone and a "representation of faith."

The Rev. William Harry, Carmel president, addresses student leaders

Charles "Chuck" Barthels of Mundelein, co-chairman, told students present, "You are our best sales people. The young people following you will be the beneficiaries of your efforts."

Drew and Barthels are directing a highly organized team of solicitors who have started to contact parents, alumni, friends and businesses to contribute. Teams of campaign workers have been organized in just about every community and Catholic parish in the county.

Carmel High School came about last year through a merger of Carmel High School for Girls and Carmel High School for Boys.

Fuel injection system needs proper care

Fuel injection is one of the key systems allowing down-sized automotive engines of the 1980s to operate in a manner demanded by motorists.

For the care owner, fuel injection means improved fuel economy and performance, but does not eliminate the need for periodic maintenance.

Fuel injection first appeared in the 1950s in the legendary Mercedes-Benz 300 SL, and experts at that time began forecasting that this innovation would replace the carburetor. Finally, during the late 1980s, that prediction is coming true.

Most of today's fuel injection systems are regulated by small computers, which monitor such things as the amount of air entering the engine, the manifold pressure, and vehicle speed. The computers then determine the right fuel/air mixture for these conditions.

In this modern system of gasoline delivery, fuel is sprayed through a fuel injector's tiny orifice, about the size of a human hair. Deposits from the gasoline can accumulate at this critical point, eventually restricting the flow of fuel.

Stop-and-go driving, high engine temperatures in modern cars, and the resins, additives, and other ingredients in gasoline all lead to these buildups of deposits.

Fuel injectors can begin to clog in just a few thousand miles and cause a state-of-the-art, fuel-injected engine to begin misfiring, hesitating, stalling, starting with difficulty, and polluting the air.

The problem is becoming more widespread and will increase in the years ahead. According to Champion Spark Plug statistics, 20 million cars on the road today require fuel injection cleaning, and 98 percent of the cars manufactured in the 1990s will have fuel injection systems.

The solution to the dilemma, is twofold:

1. Preventative. To help avoid the deposit buildup, a fuel injection cleaner should be used regularly. This is a simple procedure for any car owner. A container of "fuel injection cleaner," which can be found on most automotive chemical shelves, is easily poured into the gasoline tank. This should be done every third or fourth tankful.

2. Restorative. If the problem has gotten to the point where the hesitation and misfiring are noticeable, the car may need a "fuel system tune-up." A regular ignition tune-up may not solve the problem. A "fuel system tune-up" is a new procedure, increasingly available at leading auto repair outlets around the country. It involves a pressured cleaning and lubricating process performed by a trained automotive technician, using advanced-formula chemicals-the strongest cleaners allowed by engine manufacturer, but safe for all fuel injection systems.

Fuel injection systems have had great strides in improving the performance of auto engines, and fuel injector cleaners and a "fuel system tune-up" are now available to keep those systems functioning at peak efficiency.

Tips On Fuses

Care Care Council offers this advice on fuses:

1. Know the location of the fuse panel in your car. Your owner's manual should show you this.
2. Keep replacement fuses in your glove compartment. Check to be sure what type of fuses are used in your particular vehicle. Some use the glass tube type, others use a ceramic fuse. Most cars today use the plug-in type.
3. Learn how to replace them. This information may not be included in the owner's manual. If you're unfamiliar with the procedure, have your dealer or mechanic show up.

Precautionary notes from the Council:

If a fuse blows more than once, find out why. Do not replace a blown fuse with one of heavier rating.

If a fuse link wire blows, you have a major short circuit. Do not attempt to replace that wire until the faulty circuit is repaired. Then use a fusible link of the correct rating.

Do not use a screwdriver or other metal tool to remove a fuse. It could cause a short circuit and damage to electrical components. If your car uses the tubular glass fuse, keep a fuse puller in the glove compartment.

209-16 CLAREY 2
By Landmark Designs

Not only is the Clarey 2 compact and economical to build, but it is also designed with ample storage space to meet the needs of a small, and possibly growing family.
Storage areas line the hallway and ample closet space is available in each bedroom. The kitchen has a pantry, and nooks for bookshelves are found in both the living room and one of the bedrooms. These could be outfitted with floor-to-ceiling shelves, or shelving only the upper area would leave a convenient cubby for a desk - a natural for a personal computer or an entertainment center.
The utility room is conveniently close to the bedrooms and bathrooms, where most laundry is generated. And having the bathroom so close to the front door allows kids to dash in from play when nature calls, without leaving a trail of footprints through other rooms of the house.
Cafe doors open into the roomy kitchen from the entryway, and the corner sink looks out across the front porch and yard. In addition to the pantry, this room includes plenty of cupboards. Having the range in the eating bar allows family members to ladle out seconds directly from the stovetop without leaving their stools.
French doors in the master suite open onto a private deck, and a skylight brightens the master bath.
Another skylight, the vaulted living room, adds to the light from the sliding glass doors, while a large corner fireplace offers an open invitation for toasting pajamaed backsides and reading bedtime stories.
For a study plan of the CLAREY 2 (209-16), send $5.00 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering). Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

Christmas Tree Directory

Christmas tree selection

In the upcoming weeks, a lush fragrance will envelop households like a festive, invisible wrapping paper. Fresh pine.

The Christmas season has begun and perhaps the most dominant and essential decoration of the holiday is the Christmas tree.

Years ago, families relied on the forest to provide a tree. Today, most Christmas trees are commercially grown on tree farms, which are called plantation.

People are now buying and decorating their Christmas trees earlier than they used to. If you are going to bring a tree in early, look for trees that have good needle retention.

Choose And Cut Your Own X-Mas Tree

Scenic State Line farm invites you to choose & cut your own Christmas tree. Over 5000 trees to choose from-long & short needle trees up to 8 ft. Weekend hayrides through our farm. Warm up with hot chocolate, coffee and cookies. Visit our ornament outlet store featuring slightly defective & discontinued old world glass ornaments at the lowest prices.

Business hours: Everyday 8:00 a.m. - till dark

We are located at:

Have a joyous season -

Organization key to success for Warren hoopsters

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Time is a precious commodity during any basketball season. But when it comes to the first two weeks, coaches are likely to be counting the seconds to the first game.

But at Warren Twp. High School, when a visitor drops by, Coach Darrel Bader greets him with a friendly hello as practice continues. For the secret of success at Warren is organization.

"The help I get makes my job so much easier and enjoyable," Bader said.

Assistant coach Len Chimino gives the instructions during practice. The Blue Devils are once again mentioned as one of the top three teams in the North Suburban Conference and is Lakeland Newspapers' pick to take home the top honors. It's a familiar role for Warren, as Bader eclipsed the 200 victory plateau last year. But Bader's focus is more on finding players for positions, not on career victories.

"I don't think about it until people mention it," Bader said.

Bader, whose club is coming off a 14-11 season, and Grant's Coach Tom Maple are the veterans of the Lake County basketball wars, as they started their programs in the mid 1970s.

Like most years, the first few weeks of November are filled with optimism.

"I'm impressed with the make-up of the team," Bader said.

Warren, which opens the season this week at the Carmel Thanksgiving tournament, features returning players guard Craig Shelton, a junior; 6-1 forward Dave Huntington, 6-3 forward Ian Whittington, 6-2 forward Mike Marabella and 5-11 guard Steve Karolewicz.

"We should have good guard play and be a lot quicker than we were last season," Bader said as practice continued.

Underclassmen hoping to step in include Mark Leginsky, who was brought up for the regional last year, and Tim Kohn, who started six games at center. Those underclassmen have already experienced success, as the Blue Devils have won the sophomore NSC title two years in a row under Coach Chuck Ramsey.

"I always say you've had a good year if you win the league and the regional and it's always nice to win 20 games," Bader said.

Warren and Antioch were the only two area teams to win regional titles last year as it downed Carmel 75-68 in a thriller at Libertyville. Both were eliminated in the first round of sectional play.

The Blue Devils will miss Dave Spiller and Mark Sasser off last year's team. A transfer, Andy Dyalston, joins the contingent from Toledo, Ohio.

Warren figures to get the most competition in the NSC race from Stevenson and Libertyville, who are also picked to finish in the top three.

"We try to put everything in and get better at it as we go along," Bader said of his philosophy regarding practices.

Select Blue Devils, Panthers favorites

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Could the 1990-91 basketball season see a repeat of two years ago?

Warren and Round Lake won regionals that year. The two teams clashed in the Waukegan East sectional, with Warren emerging the victor in its second straight Sweet Sixteen showing.

The Blue Devils and the Panthers are our picks to win the North Suburban Conference and Northwest Suburban Conference titles, respectively.

The picks for the NSC:

1. Warren
2. Stevenson
3. Libertyville
4. Lake Forest
5. Antioch
6. North Chicago

7. Mundelein

8. Zion-Benton

9. Elmhurst

10. Niles North

In the NWSC, here's how we see it:

1. Round Lake

2. Glenview

3. Menasha

4. Johnsburg

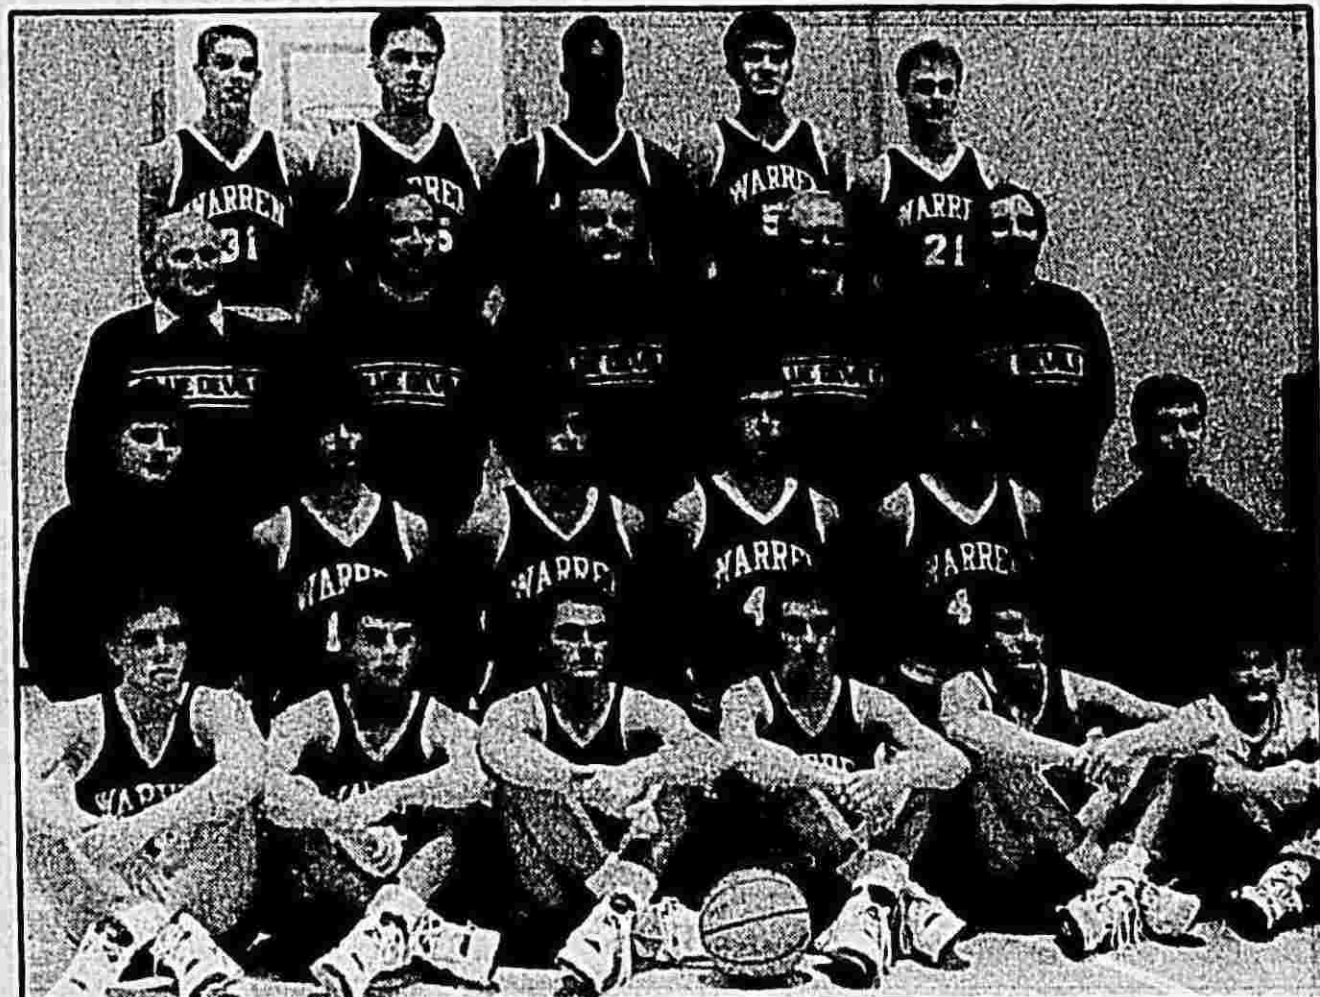

5. Lake Zurich

6. Grayslake

7. Wauconda

8. Marian Central

In the Big Eight Conference, Richmond-Burns is our choice to repeat its title while Carmel should finish in the middle of the pack. In the North Suburban Conference, Warren was by a landslide picked as the favorite to win the title.

NSC favorites

Johnson ends his wait, returns to Pats' sidelines

The opportunity had presented itself to Ken Johnson previously in the last seven years.

"I turned down some good coaching jobs because the family came first. Now I'm looking forward to the season," Johnson said.

Johnson left the whistle-and-clipboard ranks in 1983, assuming the role of athletic director at Stevenson High School. This spring, when George Katich resigned, Johnson was given a chance to dust off that clipboard and get a new pebble for the whistle. These days, Johnson, clad in a Stevenson shirt, is enthusiastically directing practices as the Patriots prepare for the season-opening Mundelein Thanksgiving tournament.

He said there is not much of a change in the sport he loves since the last time he guided the Pats. "Basketball is basketball," Johnson said.

Basketball runs deep in the Johnson family. His father, Mel Johnson, was one of the first coaches ever inducted into the Illinois Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame. His brother Ron, who is head coach at St. Charles, received the honor two years ago.

Johnson played for a tough Kaneland High School contingent before going on to play college basketball under Cliff Devoll at University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse. Devoll learned his fastbreak style from Dolf Stanely, credited with inventing the fastbreak.

"I think my father had the most influence on me. He pointed out the game is for the kids and not to overcoach and take the game away from them. Basketball is a great training ground for problems one will encounter later on in life," Johnson said.

Johnson, whose 1973 Elgin Larkin team reached the quarterfinals, has coached at both major college and prep levels, as he assisted Bill Colefield at the University of Wisconsin. While there, he coached the likes of NBA player Brad Sellers and Corey Blackwell.

"In college, it is more of a business relationship. The player gets a scholarship and is expected to give something in return. In high school, it is more for love of the game," Johnson, an Elgin resident, said as another practice concluded.

Stevenson has been tabbed by opposing coaches as a team to beat in the North Suburban Conference. The return of Chris Coleman and Eric Roth and guard Boomer Whipple lead to that conclusion, but Johnson begs to differ.

"We're about middle-of-the-pack size wise," Johnson said.

Some football players who were key to Stevenson's five-game win streak and playoff appearance may have gotten off to a slow start with the new offense and defense. "They have done a real good job of catching up," Johnson said.

Junior Chris Piggott, the top receiver on the football team, is 6-4 while junior Roth is 6-3 and Coleman is 6-2.

CLC aims to overcome early-season injuries

It is not your typical day-before-the-first basketball game of the season.

Yes, it is mid-November and the College of Lake County men's basketball team is getting ready for another season opener in its tip-off tourney. But this time, instead of wearing winter apparel, Coach Bruce Smith and the rest of the gang at CLC are clad in short-sleeve shirts as a record-setting heatwave hits Grayslake. But there is a negative side to the start of the season. For the Lancers are a bunch of walking wounded to various degrees these days.

"By far this is the worst I've seen us with injuries at this time of the year," CLC Coach Bruce Smith said.

The Lancers pre-season injury list includes: Alvin Horne, injured left hand; Howard McKnight, sprained ankle; Cory Smith, injured foot; Ryan Cooley, heel spur and Steve Matworm and Marcus Zachary, sprained ankles.

The Lancers, for the fifth straight season, opened the season with their own three-game tournament, but went 0-3. Smith, who coached his 500th career victory last year, called this year's stretch the most frustrating yet.

As for the Lancers' sophomore season, Smith said, "I'm not sure. We have a lot of guys who are coming back from injury. We have a lot of guys who are coming back from injury. We have a lot of guys who are coming back from injury."

improved," Smith said.

"Our outside shooting will be excellent. We hope our defense will play some good defense and we will still try to run the ball as much as we can," Smith said.

The Lancers will be having a two-players-are-better-than-one philosophy at point guard. Cooley and Lake Zurich graduate Jack Denny will man the post.

A strong Antioch presence is on this year's roster. In addition to sophomore Cooley, 6-2 forward Jeff Becker, 6-2 guard Ken Mattson and 6-1 guard Ed Haley are all first-year players looking to contribute.

Also new to the CLC lineup are Marworm from Grant, Jorge Hernandez, a 6-1 forward from Highland Park and Marcus Zachary, a 6-3 forward from Waukegan West.

CLC has a new assistant coach as Mike Klaber has joined the staff. A Libertyville High School graduate, Klaber played on Smith's 1975-76 team.

Although recruiting may be at times difficult, it is something Smith has had success with for more than 20 years. "Our success over the years is because of the job the high school coaches do," Smith said.

CLC coach Smith said, "I'm not sure. We have a lot of guys who are coming back from injury. We have a lot of guys who are coming back from injury. We have a lot of guys who are coming back from injury."

Grant hoping to return as Northwest contender

The way Tom Maple sees it, two aspects of the game of basketball meant the difference between a 10-16 season in 1989-90 and a reversal of that record.

If we had won our close games, we could have been 16-10 instead of 10-16," Maple said during a practice. "We had six games where we shot under 60 percent from the free-throw line."

To that end, Maple is putting a higher-than-usual emphasis on free-throw shooting as the 1990-91 season unfolds.

The Bulldogs are mentioned by many, including neighbor Round Lake Coach Bob Ward, as a possible contender this season.

The team is led by returning seniors Rick Twarowski, a 6-1 forward; Damian Vela, a 6-1 forward and John Eiduke, a 65-10 guard. Also returning are Jason Amedio, a 5-10 guard who saw action in the second half of last season and Aaron Foszcz, 6-1 forward who quarterbacked the football team.

Passing will be a key to Grant's offense once again.

"We have to have good passers for us to win games," Maple, who has been at the helm of the Grant program since 1975-76, said.

The Bulldogs lose both Maiworm brothers, Jamie and Steve, to graduation. Steve is playing on the College of Lake County team this winter.

As far as the NWSC race is concerned, Marengo and Round Lake appear to be the favorites with Marian Central, Johnsonburg and Lake Zurich ready to contend. Although Lake Zurich lost big man Eric Krause when he moved, two guards return to the Bears lineup.

And maybe with some improvement in free-throw shooting, the close games will go Grant's way. After a conference title in 1986-87, the Bulldogs were in the running at 11-3 in 1987-88 but slipped to .500, 14-14, in 1988-89.

1990-91 Bulldogs

Devine helps Iowa prepare

A Libertyville High School graduate is helping Iowa get ready for Big Ten opponents.

Libertyville's Jeff Devine has made the prep squad at the University of Iowa, which prepares the first team by running offenses and defenses of opponents.

Devine, who is 5-7, is a 1986 graduate of Libertyville High School who played point guard for the Wildcats.

"He was an outstanding point guard," Libertyville Coach Max Sanders said.

Devine had a similar role last year for the Hawkeyes, and saw some playing time as injuries and eligibility woes hurt Iowa.

Steve Lowry, a 1190 graduate of Libertyville, also made the prep team, but elected not to play hoops because they interfered with his studies, Sanders said.

At Carmel

Consistent play priority, key ingredient for wins

The last three games of the 1989-90 season were a good snapshot of the year for the Carmel Corsairs.

Carmel fell to St. Viator 71-39, bounced back to upset Libertyville at the Libertyville regional, but lost to Warren 75-68 in the regional final.

The Corsairs finished 14-15 in a win-one, lose one year, 6-8 in the East Suburban Catholic Conference.

"The goal of this year is to maintain consistency. We had a hard time of sustaining success last year," Coach Scott Rossberg said.

The Corsairs will be fielding a young squad this year and the junior will be playing key roles from the opening tip-off. "We'll need the juniors to play well for us," Rossberg said.

Junior guard 6-4 Chris Mohr leads the group, scoring 10 points a game last year. Also back are 6-3 forward Pete Graham and 6-5 junior Pete Eisenbarth. Other juniors are: 5-11 Eric Moore, 6-43 Jonathan Smith,, 6-2 Cory Kirking and 6-2 Dan DeVito.

Seniors are led by guard Dan Gramm and include 5-8 Eric Feinendegen, 5-10 Steve Geiger, 6-2 Jim Culotta, and 6-1 Kevin Ryan.

Jermiane Williams made a name for himself with strong play in the regional as a freshman last year. "He adds that element of quickness and he can shoot the three-point shot," Rossberg said.

Ed Haravon, a 6-5 senior, will anchor the middle for Carmel. "He's like another coach on the floor," Rossberg said.

Carmel is hoping its first regular season at home tournament will spur a good start before the rugged East Suburban Catholic Conference season begins. Rossberg is picking St. Joseph and Joliet Catholic as the squads to beat.

Top guards

At Wauconda

Win streak top priority

The losing streaks are over. The proverbial monkeys are off the backs of the Wauconda boys basketball players.

Now it is time to take the next step.

"Last year we gained respect, but this is the year," Coach Dave Gardner said with confidence.

The Bulldogs won four games in 1989-90, not a stellar campaign by any means, but enough to give the Bulldogs fans some hope. The sophomore team won 12 games and the frosh won 10 contests.

John Sanew, a 6-0 senior, made a name for himself in Wauconda's run-and-shoot offense this fall and hopes to do the same on the hardwood. "He is the best natural player we have had in a long time here. He is a great passer and likes to take control on the floor," Gardner said.

The director of the run-and-shoot offense for football, quarterback Todd Schmidt, is back after sitting out last year.

Running the offense for the Bulldogs will be Shawn Hoffman, a 5-9 senior.

"We're not as guard oriented as we have been in the past. I think we will have a well-rounded team," Gardner said.

Scott Suhr, a 6-4 240 pound center, returns to man the middle, but the next tallest Bulldog is 6-1. One of those 6-1 players is Dimitri Hernandez, a senior.

"We're a young team and the juniors will have to get some playing time," Gardner said.

These include: 5-5 Brian Block, 5-10 Jeff Scheider, 6-1 Nate Janssen, 6-1 Matt Green, 5-11 Clint Lubeno and 5-10 Jason Clark.

Kraus-less Lake Zurich adjusting to new year

The news spread like wildfire throughout the Northwest Suburban Conference.

Eric Krause would not be coming back to the Lake Zurich Bears for his senior year.

Instead, Krause would be moving, taking the weapons of his 6-7, 210 pound frame to another basketball program.

"It was hard on them initially. Now they responded with the attitude of let's show them we can play ourselves," Lake Zurich Coach Doug Cook said.

Krause averaged 17.1 points a game and improved game-by-game in the 1989-90 season, gaining confidence as the Bears' enforcer in the middle.

But the Bears, who open the season at the Mundein tournament this week, still plan to be a force to be reckoned with in the Northwest Suburban Conference. Guards Steve Knipp and Jeff Anderson, both 5-7, return. Anderson was the second-leading scorer last year at 10.4 points a game. It was Knipp who took over when point guard Jack Denny was injured in a key early-season showdown with Round Lake last year.

Seniors Ron Newman, a 5-10, 150 pound swingman and Scott Wery, a 6-2 160 pound center, are also returning lettermen.

Nine juniors are on the roster hoping to contribute. They include 5-10 guard Keith Ruiz, 5-11 forward Jeff Oeslager, 5-10 guard Kevin Caceres, 6-2 center Andy Sphar and Steve Vasey, a 6-2 center.

As for the NWSC this year, Cook points to Round Lake as the team to beat.

Johnsburg aims to pick up where it left off

At this time last year, Johnsburg's basketball roster looked more like a MASH list than a pre-season list of those hoping to make the basketball team. Players were on crutches when it was time for the first practice and the Skyhawks had trouble in the early going.

But by February, the Skyhawks had sneaked up on the rest of the Northwest Suburban Conference, improving from fourth to third and had a shot at second place.

"I'm excited about the season coming up," Jeff Lewiston said.

The Johnsburg mentor, now in his fifth season, is hoping to possibly challenge the "big boys" of the NWSC, Marengo and Round Lake, this year.

Leading the returnees are Dan DuFour, a 6-2 senior forward who is a three-point threat along with 6-2 senior center Rick Van Every. "He is vastly improved," Lewiston said of Van Every.

Also back is senior Paul Jargstorf, a guard-forward who is a 6-0 senior.

"I'm real pleased with practice. This year's team has picked things up quicker than other teams," Lewiston said.

The coach described three players vying for the guard positions as all very quick. They include 6-0 senior Mike Hermann, 5-11 junior Keith Boon and 5-11 junior Erih Hoffman. "It's a hard choice. We have a lot of guys with very similar level of talent. The competition is helping us," Lewiston said.

Johnsburg is losing its top scorer, Eric Toussant, who averaged 20 points a game. "I don't know if we can replace 20 points a game with one guy but we will have more potential this year," Lewiston said.

Panthers banking foes' NWSC forecasts are true

Starting on a hot streak is one thing, keeping it going is another.

So consistency will be a priority for the Round Lake Panthers begin the 1990 season with their own tournament.

The Panthers started 1989-90 with an 11-0 record and 13-1 records, yet a serious of injuries dealt the team a blow to their chances to win the Northwest Suburban Conference title and they finished second to Marengo.

Coach Bob Ward believes the team is realizing the blue lining of the dark injury cloud of a year ago.

"The injuries gave them a chance to gain some varsity experience," Ward said after another successful night of practice.

Mike Bragg, who quarterbacked the football team for three seasons, is a strong post player at 6-0.

Garrett Horn, coming off an MVP season for the NWSC football championship team, returns at one guard spot and Marx Drath is back at another. "He provides a spark off the bench," Ward said of Drath.

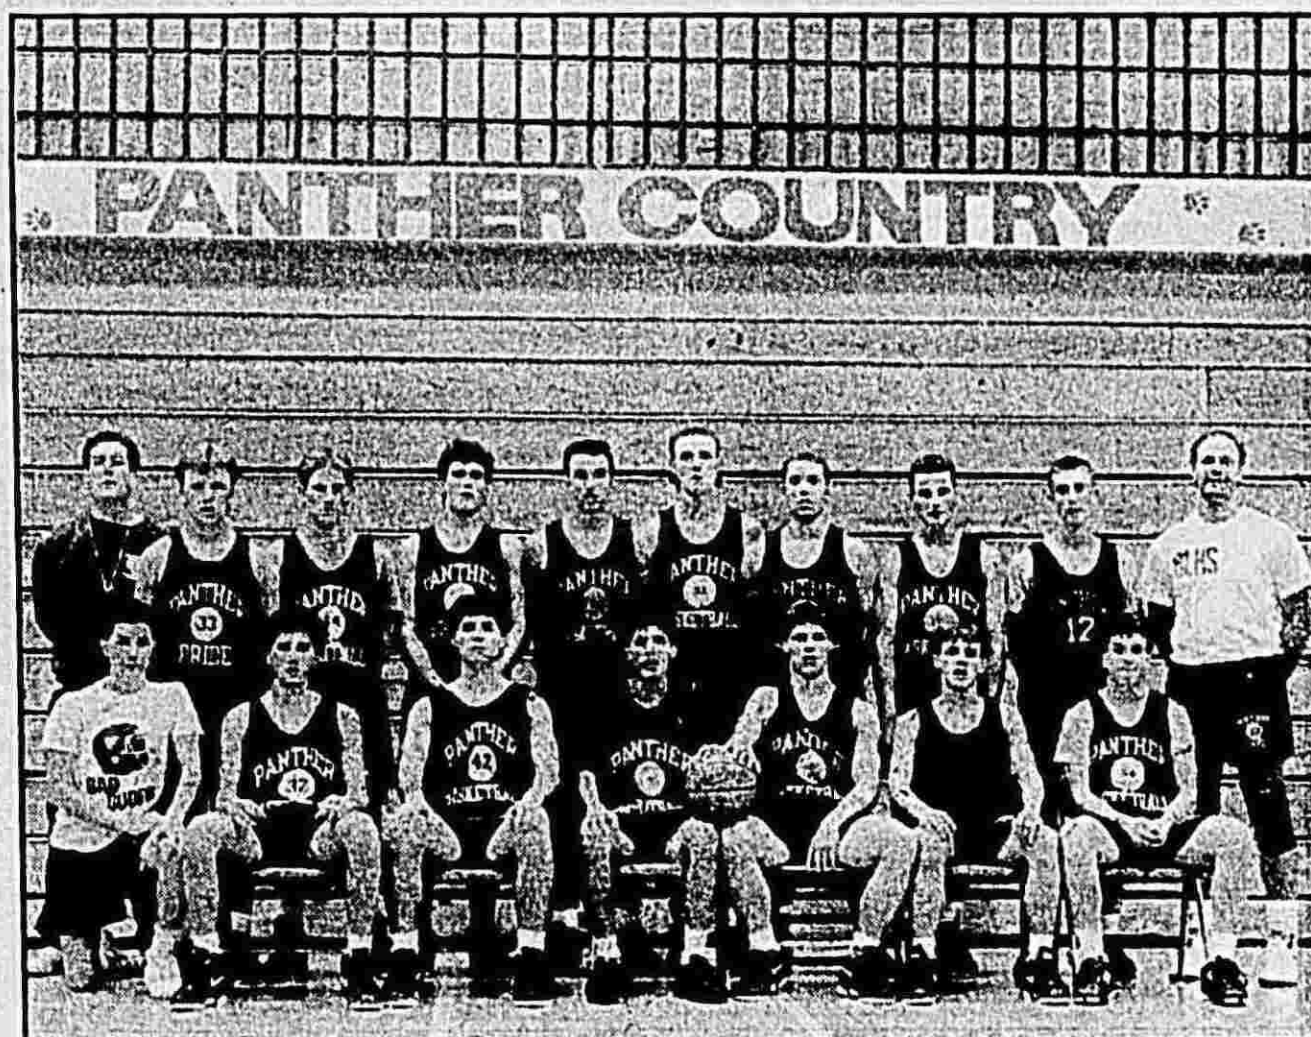

Wally Illg, a three-year varsity player, is one of the top shooters in the conference, according to Ward.

Dave Burton, a 6-2 senior forward, was an all-NWSC player last year. "He'll be very versatile," Ward said.

Other seniors on the team are 6-1 guard Brian Smith and 6-0 forward Joe Sledzik.

Pat Lejman, a 6-5 junior center, leads the underclassmen looking to contribute. "We think he has a lot of potential," Ward said.

Ward has been at Round Lake long enough that some of this year's seniors started learning hoops when Ward began his program with the Round Lake Area Park Dist. and local elementary schools.

1990-91 Panthers

Some basketball coaches wear the phrase on their t-shirts, others in their hearts.

Offense wins games, defense wins championships, the phrase goes.

And Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser is ready to embrace that theory this season.

"We will be placing a lot more emphasis on defense this season," Dresser vowed.

Specifically, the Sequoits would like to keep teams under the speed limit, 55, or 50 points, if possible.

Antioch was the area's Cinderella team a year ago. The Sequoits took a 9-17 record into the regional tournament. After easily defeating Grant, the club surprised Round Lake to win the title. It just missed a chance at the sectional title game as Fremd won in overtime.

Six senior lettermen are returning for the Sequoits who saw significant playing time last year. They are joined by junior letterwinner Tim Fox.

A look at the Sequoits:

Steve Manderscheid, a 6-1, 160 pound senior, he became a started six games into the 1989-90 season. He averaged eight points a game after that. Dresser calls him a good shooter and has the speed to play defense.

Keith Walker: a 6-2, 176 pound senior, earned a starting role at the end of last year. "He is a good jumper and has good speed. His game has improved over the off-season and plays good anticipation defense," Dresser said in a pre-season prospectus. He led the junior varsity team in scoring with 11.3 points and 5.1 rebounds a game. "He is our most improved player over last year," Dresser said.

Dan Mead, 6-4, 166 pound senior: he came off the bench last year and is an outside shooting specialist. "He must use his size to rebound for us this year and play both inside and outside," Dresser said. He averaged 10 points and 4.5 rebounds a game for the junior varsity.

Mike Warren: a 6-5 210 pound senior, Antioch will be counting on Warren in the middle. "We will rely on Mike for his inside scoring, rebounding and defense," Dresser said.

Mike Newcomb: a 6-3, 168 pound senior, he was a part-time starter as a junior last year. He led the Antioch three-point shooting last year at 39 percent.

Tim Fox: a 5-11, 140 pound junior, he will play the point guard position. He was the team's best free-throw shooter last year at 85 percent and shot 52 percent from the field. He averaged 2.5 assists a game coming off the bench.

Rex Ballinger, a 6-4, 187 pound senior transfer from Ohiom, he will help at power forward and has good shooting range to move outside, according to Dresser.

Rob Nerini: a 6-0, 176 pound senior, he is making a comeback from major knee surgery. Expected to play at off-guard, he played well in summer leagues.

Shane Werner: a 5-7, 130 pound senior, he is making a comeback as well after academic woes last year.

Andy Haley: a 6-2, 178 pound junior, he was the leading scorer for the sophomore team at 12.8 points a game and seven rebounds a contest. "Andy is a good jumper and has good shooting range. A hard-nose player, he can contribute at off-guard and power forward.

Other juniors on the team: Marc Case, 5-10, 155 pounds, he averaged 2.2 points a game at the sophomore level and is expected to play guard; Howie Filip, a 5-10, 147 pound junior, a soccer standout, he scored 6.2 points a game and led the sophs in assists and steals; Chris Malec, 6-7, 176 pounder, he averaged 3.8 rebounds and 3.6 points a game at the sophomore level; John Montgomery, a 6-2 180 pound forward, has increased his shooting range; Eric Nelson, a 6-1 165 pound forward, is expected to add depth to the front line.

As for the North Suburban Conference, where Antioch was 7-11 last year and tied for seventh place with Mundelein, Dresser tabs Stevenson, Libertyville and Warren as the teams to beat.

Rams aim for surprises as new year commences

As the 1989-90 season unfolded, the Grayslake Rams opened the campaign with a 5-2 record and a second-place finish in the Johnsbury Thanksgiving tournament.

But Christmas was anything but kind to the Rams. The Rams, beginning with the DeKalb tournament, went on a tailspin and lost their next nine games to finish 9-17.

And this year, Grayslake is not mentioned as one of the contenders in the Northwest Suburban Conference. That's just fine for Grayslake Coach Greg Groth.

"I think we'll surprise some people," Groth said.

The Rams, who averaged 44 points a year ago, are not blessed with much height this winter.

"We're small, but we will control the tempo,"

Groth said.

Nathan Roberts, a 6-2 center, whom Groth calls a "great defensive player" returns to man the middle. Terry Jones, another senior, returns as does Paul Goodling, Mike Andrews and Steve Hamil.

The third day of practice, Groth said the squad was working hard but a week later already saw progress being made. The passes were a little sharper, the repetition less and the practice time runs smoother.

"I'm very anxious for the season to start," Groth, in his sixth year at Grayslake, said.

Grayslake is hoping to remember not the nine-game losing streak, but the second half effort against Round Lake in the regional contest. The Rams were hopelessly behind early in the game, but cut the gap to a respectable 11 points.

The Rams lose top scorer and Johnsbury all-tourney team member Mike Duchane off last year's team.

The Rams have a theory this winter, written on every instruction they receive. "You're Responsible for Your Results," is the motto this year.

The Rams will feature aggressive defense as always.

There are some new faces in the Grayslake coaching staff this year. Grant Seaholm, who formerly coached the Rams girls softball team, is assisting both the freshmen and varsity levels. Bill Dubek, an Antioch High School graduate, takes over the freshmen level.

1990-91 Corsairs

In all levels of basketball, it often separates pretenders from the contenders. It is the hoops version of the battle for the line of scrimmage, the trenches, if you will.

Yes, rebounding, that all-important statistic became a factor once again as the College of Lake County's mens basketball team tried to garner one win from its own tip-off tournament Saturday.

After a strong 28-rebound showing in the first half, the Lancers were held to 12 caroms in the second 20 minutes as Oakton pulled out a close 97-93 verdict.

The good news for CLC fans was the Lancers were not bothered by injuries as one might suspect. "we weren't bothered by injuries at all," CLC Coach Dr. Bruce Smith said.

The Lancers, 0-3, will hope their tournament luck improves when they travel to Harper Nov. 23. The Lancers battle the host Hawks at 8 p.m.

Although the fans and CLC players thought Oakton's defender was too far away for the call, it led to a five-footer by Oakton's Steve Vrbancic which put the Red Raiders up 95-93.

Statham, who finished with 14 points, had gained the home team a 93-all tie with :57 left. Teammate Marcus Zackery had hit four straight field goals, but Oakton had a three-pointer sandwiched in between to keep the lead.

Statham, Coskey, Horton and Alvin McKnight all fouled out.

FOOT NOTES

Dr. Lee M. Tisa, Podiatrist
Board Certified.

NEUROMAS—A CONSTANT SOURCE OF FOOT PAIN

Morton's neuroma is an incredibly painful condition affecting the foot. A neuroma is a thickening and/or swelling of the sensory nerve of the foot. The pain from a neuroma is episodic in nature, at first is usually bearable, a sort of a dull stinging and burning sensation, which radiates to the 2nd, 3rd, 4th or 5th toes. Pain progresses, however, to a spiraling pain of excruciating level that radiates into the involved toes and feels like its taking over the entire foot. It is often said that sufferers feel compelled to remove their shoes and to flex and massage their toes rapidly to gain relief.

Treatment of neuromas usually consists of conservative therapy such as alterations to the shoe, cortisone injections to the area, orthotic devices, which are custom arch supports. If none of these measures work, surgery is the desired course of action and is the most effective in resolving the problem.

Should you experience a dull or severe burning pain in your foot especially in the areas of the base of the toes 2, 3, 4 or 5, please feel free to contact Dr. Lee Tisa for a NO COST CONSULTATION* to discuss your condition.

Expect Carlson arraignment soon

William Carlson, age 16, of Wildwood, was expected to be arraigned Nov. 23 in the murder case of his parents.

A court hearing was set for Nov. 22 in Quebec City, Canada on Canadian charges.

Lake County States Atty. Mike Waller announced Carlson was indicted on seven counts of first degree murder as a result of the shooting death of his Wildwood parents Sandra and Paul Carlson.

The Canadian charges involve possession of stolen property and are in the Canadian juvenile court system.

"We're hoping he comes back Nov. 23," Lake County Deputy States Atty. Steve McCollum said. McCollum said a Canadian judge has ruled that Carlson was to waive extradition hearings.

"The Lake County Sheriff's office and the Canadian authorities have done an excellent job," McCollum said.

The investigation resulted in charged by the Lake County grand jury indicating that both of Carlson's parents were intentionally killed by him as well as being robbed of personal items at the time they were murdered. Also, the grand jury has indicted Carlson on stealing his parents' jewelry.

Lake County investigators indicated that Mrs. Carlson's body was found Oct. 26 in the home with her overcoat on but her clothing cut away to expose her body. Investigators indicated that the Northern Illinois Crime Laboratory is currently working to confirm evidence that Mrs. Carlson was raped by her son after being shot.

Carlson was a student at Warren Twp. High School and obtained a gun for $100, stolen from a grandfather of one of Carlson's friends.

McCollum, chief of the felony review division, and Jeff Pavletic, are working on the case.

BAG UP THE BARGAINS!

Did you ever stop to think how really important it is to support your local economy...stop to think that you actually have a responsibility to shop at home?

Money spent locally turns over several times and comes back to us in improved streets, schools, community services and jobs. The same dollars spent out-of-town help out someone else's streets, schools and services.

Community prosperity begins with that single dollar that goes from your local clothing store to your local plumber to fix a drain; your plumber buys a compressor locally and the dollar goes to the local hardware store. Eventually that dollar comes back to you.

Shop at home — your money is in the bag.
